WOGBB President's message

I'm writing this message from the Utah Pheasants Society's Annual Gamebird show in the greater Salt Lake City area. There are about 237 Pheasants, Chucker, Quail and Doves at the show. The birds came from 4 different states, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming and of course Utah. Craig Holmes is down here with me and we will have a full report plus pictures at the November meeting.

At the November meeting this month we will be reviewing any nominations for 2014 officers that have been mailed in and opening the floor for nominations. Nominations will remain open as old business at the November general membership meeting, if multiple nominations are received for any of the elected offices this will trigger mailing and/or e-mailing of ballots. The ballots will be required to be returned by the December meeting allowing them to be counted and results announced at that meeting. If there are no multiple nominations for any office received at the November meeting, protocol would be to entertain a motion to approve the slate as then nominated, by affirmation at the November meeting, to be effective for 2014, and dispensing with formal balloting

Now will all of that said, at the November 2011 General membership meeting, it was decided to forgo the term limits of the by-laws for two years and revisit this again at the end of that time. The two years are up so before the election if any of the nominations are impacted by the term limits, the by-laws will need to address it before the election.

A note on upcoming meetings, December 15th we will be meeting at Craig Holmes for the annual Holiday party and the January meeting will be at the Burke Museum in Seattle on January 19th.
